PREFACE.

In presenting to our patrons, and the public, our first issue of the Kent County Directory, we beg to state that we have spared neither pains nor expense in collecting and arranging the information for the work, and trust that it will prove to be what we intended and believe we have succeeded in making it, viz: the best work of the kind ever published in the Province. The Post Office Address of the farmers, given in the present volume, is a new feature in Directories, and will be found a useful and important addition to the work. Absolute freedom from errors has seldom or never been attained in Directories, or any other class of publications, and while we may not claim that ours is an exception to the general rule, we have no hesitation in saying that the errors and omissions, if any are found, will be few and unimportant.

Respectfully,

J. D. CARR & CO.,

BLENHEIM

(Rond Eau P. O.)

Is an incorporated village of about 1,600 inhabitants, in the township of Harwich, 12 miles south-east of Chatham, 5 miles from Charing Cross on the C. S. Ry. its nearest railway station at present, and five miles from the Rond Eau Harbor. It is pleasantly situated, 130 feet above the level of Lake Erie, and will be an important station on the line of the Erie and Huron Railway, now in course of construction.

An extensive Lumber and Manufacturing interest is centered here, including Bending works, Handle factories, Saw Mills, Sash, Door and Blind factories, and an Agricultural Implement Manufactory. It is surrounded by a fine agricultural country, and large quantities of the finest wheat are annually exported by way of the lakes. There are six churches, one of the best school houses in the county, a bank and a weekly newspaper.

The Montreal Telegraph Co. has an office here and the Dominion Co. will shortly extend its line to this place. Daily stages to Chatham, Charing Cross and Morpeth.

BOTHWELL

Is an incorporated Town, in the township of Zone, in the extreme northeast corner of the county, on the line of the Great Western Railway, 23 miles from Chatham. The place was first started about the year 1858, and Bothwell probably owes its existence to the discovery of oil in the vicinity about that time. It was for some years thereafter the seat of quite an extensive oil business, and grew rapidly. In the year 1867 a disastrous conflagration destroyed the greater portion of the town, and this, together with the general depression of the oil business, gave the place a serious set back. It is surrounded by a good farming county, from which it derives a profitable trade and is increasing steadily, if not rapidly, in population and business, and bids fair to regain eventually its old time prosperity. It has a flour mill, a saw mill, a planing mill, a hub and spoke factory, a bank, three hotels, a weekly newspaper, churches of the leading denominations and good educational facilities, and exports principally grain and live stock. The Dominion and Montreal Telegraph Companies and the American Express Company maintain offices here. Population about 1,200.

CHATHAM,

The county seat of Kent, is situated a little west of the exact center of the county at the junction of the four townships of Chatham, Dover, Raleigh and Harwich. It is on both sides of the river Thames, 18 miles above its mouth, 60 miles southwest of London and 46 east of Detroit, Mich. The first settlement of the place dates back to the year 1830 or thereabouts, and Chatham was fixed upon as the county seat of Kent, which up to the year 1847 formed a part of Essex. Railway communication was established about that time by the opening of the Great Western Railway. When the Canada Southern Railway was completed some six years ago an effort was made to build a branch road from this place to Charing Cross, on that line, which is only seven miles south. Although a large bonus was voted and the project was decidedly popular, yet the measure was by some influence defeated. and the result was that a portion of the trade from the southern part of the county was diverted to other points. This, however, will be remedied by the completion of the Erie & Huron Railway, now in an advanced state of construction, which will give the Town direct communication by rail with the north and south parts of the county, and by connecting with the Canada Southern will give the place all the advantages to be derived from a competing line east and west.

Chatham is surrounded by a fine agricultural country, and is one of the largest grain and produce markets in the western portion of Ontario. It is estimated that the shipments of wheat alone from here for the present year will be in excess of one million bushels. Besides this, enormous quantities of flour, barley, malt, beans, eggs and farm produce generally, together with live stock are exported annually. The products of the forest form a considerable portion of the shipments from here, and include hardwood lumber, square and ship timber, railroad ties, staves and stave timber and immense quantities of cord wood, nearly all of which is shipped by water direct, the river being navigable for vessels drawing 10 feet.

Although Chatham is essentially a commercial Town its manufacturing interests are also quite important, and include seven flouring and grist mills, four foundries and machine shops, four planing mills and sash factories, a large saw-mill, a woolen-mill, a boiler works, a plow, pump and stave factory, two breweries, a fanning-mill factory, agricultural implement manufactories, a soap factory, a tannery, about 10 carriage and wagon manufactories, several large brickyards, besides others of minor importance. There are also a grain elevator—70,000 bushels capacity,—two malthouses, one of 100,000 and the other 20,000 bushels capacity, three newspapers, branches of three incorporated banks, besides several private banking firms and about 15 hotels of all grades.

Of Churches there are about a dozen, representing all the different denominations common to this part of the country, some of them being very costly and beautiful edifices. The Public Schools are, including the High School, six in number, and cost to build and equip about $40,000. They are under the control of the High School Board and the Board of Public School Trustees, furnishing employment to 25 teachers, and have a total average attendance of about eleven hundred. "The Pines" Ursuline Academy is an incorporated institution in charge of the Religious of the Ursuline Institute, built in 1870 at a cost of over $20,000, and has about 12 acres of ground handsomely laid out. The Catholic Separate School was built in 1874 and cost nearly $10,000. Both of these institutions are well patronized and are highly successful. The Wilberforce Educational Institute—a school designed for the higher education of the colored race—is ably managed and in a flourishing condition.

Within the past few years Chatham has improved vastly in appearance, and the Main or King street with its many handsome and costly brick business blocks now completed or in course of erection, presents quite a Metropolitan appearance. There are a number of elegant private residences, many of which have spacious grounds artistically adorned with flowers, shrubbery, etc. The town is lighted with gas, King street is paved with cedar blocks, and the streets generally are in good condition, but an adequate supply of good pure water is yet to be provided. Chatham is now an incorporated Town of nearly 10,000 inhabitants and is a port of entry, has a Customs House and Inland Revenue office.

Daily stages leave here for Dresden, Wallaceburg, Charing Cross, Blenheim and Morpeth, and during the season of navigation a steamer makes daily trips to Windsor and Detroit. The American Express Company and the Dominion and Montreal Telegraph Companies maintain offices here.

DRESDEN.

Situated on both sides of the Sydenham River, in the Gore of Camden Township, is a thriving incorporated village with a population of nearly 2,000. It was first settled in 1846, the postoffice was established in 1854, and for a town without railway facilities its growth has been something remarkable. Hardwood timber abounds in the vicinity and an immense business is done annually in the export of square and ship timber, cordwood, bent work, hubs, spokes and forest products generally. The soil is highly productive and when cleared off makes first-class farms. During the past few years a considerable quantity of grain has been shipped from here with prospects of a steady increase in this direction. Its manufacturing establishments are an extensive hub and spoke factory and bending works, a large saw-mill, a woolen-mill, two foundries and machine shops, three flouring mills, three planing-mills and sash factories, a tannery, several carriage and wagon shops, besides others of lesser importance. The village has a weekly newspaper, a bank, four hotels, churches of all the leading denominations, and good educational facilities. There is a spacious and handsome brick Town Hall in the Market Square. The business portion of the village is built largely of brick, which gives it quite a business-like appearance. The river, which is here spanned by a substantial swing bridge, is navigable for vessels of 300 tons. During the season of navigation a steamer makes tri-weekly trips to Detroit and another to Sarnia, leaving alternate days. The Erie & Huron Railway, now graded for a considerable distance will, when completed, open up railway communication with the rest of the world, and greatly facilitate trade. Dresden is 11 miles northwest of Thamesville on the G W Ry, and 16 north of Chatham, and has daily communication by stage with both places. The Dominion and Montreal Telegraph Companies have offices here.

RIDGETOWN

Is a thriving incorporated Village in Howard Township, on the line of the Canada Southern Railway, 20 miles east of Chatham, the County seat, and has a population of nearly 2,000. It is surrounded by a good farming country, settled by a prosperous and generally well-to-do farming community, from whom it receives a large and increasing trade. The manufacturing establishments are: The Howard Agricultural Works, manufacturers of farming machinery and implements and general founders and machinists; another small foundry; a steam saw mill, with sash, door and blind manufactory attached; a bending works; a planing mill and sash factory; two flour mills; woolen mill; and four carriage shops. There is a branch of the Molsons' Bank and two local banks; a newspaper; two public and one private schools; and churches of all the denominations common in the neighborhood. The exports from here are mainly grain and live stock.

Ridgetown has, within the past few years, improved greatly in appearance, and increased very rapidly in population, and no bet er evidence of its prosperity could be given than that found in the number of substantial brick blocks lately erected, prominent among which is the Porter Block and Opera House, built in 1878 by Henry Porter, Esq. As this building is by far ahead of what might naturally be expected in a place of the size of Ridgetown, a brief description of it may not be out of place here. The Block is located in the exact business center of the Village, having a frontage of 106 feet on Main St. and 105 feet on Erie St., and has entrances on each thoroughfare. It is built of brick, with cut stone trimmings, and is fitted up with all modern improvements throughout. The entire building is lighted with gas, the drainage is perfect, and the arrangements for heating, ventilating and general comfort are all that modern science has been able to devise. In the upper part of the building is a large water tank holding 100 barrels, with pipes connecting with each floor, and in constant readiness for use in case of fire and for general purposes. The ground floor is occupied exclusively by stores of which there are seven. The second floor is fitted up and arranged for business offices, and the upper portion, or Opera House, is the finest public hall in the county, and one of the best in Western Ontario. The dimensions of the Opera Hall are, including the stage, dressing rooms, ante-rooms and all accessory arrangements, 54x100 feet, with ceiling 18 feet high. The auditorium is in the clear 54x71 feet, with not a post or pillar of any description to obstruct the view of the stage, and its seating capacity about 1,000. As there are no less than seven solid brick walls built from the ground up to the floor of the Opera Hall, no fears need ever be entertained as to its safety. The drop curtain is one of the handsomest ever painted, and the extent and variety of equipment in the way of scenery is all that could be desired, while two immense chandeliers of beautiful design suspended from the ceiling, together with the smaller lights, stage lights, etc., serve to make the hall light as noon-day. The plans for the building were prepared by W. G. Malcolmson, architect, of Detroit; the mason work was done by Dean Bros., Detroit; the carpenter work by Tolmie & Wilson, Ridgetown; the plumbing by Alex McKay, Detroit; and the roofing by Sears Bros., Detroit. (A cut of the building may be seen on the inside back cover of this work.)

THAMESVILLE,

In Camden Township, within one mile of Thames River and fifteen miles northeast of Chatham, is a village of about 800 inhabitants, and a station on the Great Western Railway. The first settlement of the place occurred about the year 1856. The land in the vicinity is very productive, particularly that portion of it nearest the river, and a large business is done in exporting grain and live stock. The village has a grist-mill, a small saw-mill, with a larger one in the immediate vicinity, and three hotels, together with the usual complement of shops and stores to be found in places of the same size. Daily stages leave here for Dresden, eleven miles northwest, and for Ridgetown and Morpeth, distant respectively ten and fifteen miles southeast. The American Express Co. and the Dominion and Montreal Telegraph Companies have offices here.

WALLACEBURG

Is located in the northwest corner of the county, in the Gore of Chatham Township, at the forks of the Sydenham River, seventeen miles from Chatham, with which place it has daily communication by stage. The river here is spanned by two bridges, one over each branch, and is of sufficient depth to float the largest class of lake vessels. The post office was established in 1835, and Wallaceburg is now an incorporated village of about 1,500 inhabitants. A large business is done here in the manufacture and shipment of lumber in its various forms. The village has three saw-mills, a hoop and stave manufactory, a flour mill, a foundry and machine shop, two furniture factories, a planing-mill, a manufactory of wagon hubs and wheels, and others of lesser importance. There are three hotels, a weekly newspaper, a bank, churches of the leading denominations, good public schools, and a handsome brick Town Hall. The shipments are chiefly of hardwood lumber and ship timber, staves, hoops, cordwood and grain. During the season of navigation steamers leave here daily for Dresden and Sarnia, and tri-weekly for Windsor and Detroit, Mich. The Montreal and Dominion Telegraph Companies have offices here.
